INFIRMARY FOR SLAVES,
ELIZABETH CITY, N. C.

THE SUBSCRIBER has opened at the Marine Hospital (in a separate building) an INFIRMARY FOR INVALID SLAVES. He has ample accommodations for a limited number, and will give them his careful attention—supplying them with every necessary their case requires. An Institution of this kind offers many advantages to masters having servants afflicted with chronic or surgical diseases. And, from its economy, they are relieved of the expense and annoyance of having such upon a plantation.

The charges for Board, Medical attendance, Nursing, and Medicine, are $6 per week, payable upon the removal of the patient.

In cases requiring a surgical operation, in addition to the above rates, a fee varying from $2 to $30, in different cases, will be charged for the operation, the particulars of which may be ascertained upon application at the Infirmary.

The services of any other regular Physician will be allowed, at the expense of the master.

Persons in the country desiring to send patients to the Infirmary, or obtain information concerning it, may address the subscriber.

☞ No contagious diseases admitted.

A VALUABLE FARM FOR SALE

THE subscriber offers for sale ASPENWOOD, situated in Mount Pleasant, Norfolk County, Va., within one mile of the Albemarle and Chesapeake Canal, and distant seven miles from Great Bridge, containing by estimation five hundred acres. There is not a more beautiful and productive farm in this section of the country. It is chiefly Gum land of the best quality. The soil is remarkably fertile, and durable, retaining its fertility under the severest tillage, for many years. There is a sufficiency of high land for trucking or other purposes. All of the cleared land is well drained, and under a fine state of cultivation, and will yield over one thousand barrels of corn. There is also a deading in fine order for clearing, sufficient to yield upwards of twelve hundred barrels of corn.—A large leading ditch and private road passes through the entire tract. The buildings are in excellent order, and consist of a two story dwelling, 28 by 30 feet, with a wing extending 16 feet in the rear, finished in a neat and fashionable style. The Negro quarters are large and very comfortable; also cook house, dairy, barns, cribs, carriage houses, poultry houses, &c. The neighborhood is healthy, society good. A church and two schools within a mile. Those in want of a really valuable farm, will do well to examine this, for it is but seldom that such is offered for sale. Terms accommodating.

BALTIMORE LOCK HOSPITAL
DOCTOR JOHNSTON.

The founder of this Celebrated Institution, offers the most certain, speedy, and only effectual remedy in the world for Gleets, Strictures, Seminal weakness, Pains in the Loins, Constitutional Debility, Impotency, Weakness of the Back and Limbs. Affections of the Kidneys, Palpitation of the Heart, Dyspepsia, Nervous Irritability, Disease of the Head, Throat, Nose or Skin; and all those serious and melancholy Disorders arising from the destructive habits of Youth, which destroy both body and mind. Those secret and solitary practices are more fatal to their victims than the song of the Syrens to the mariners Ulysses, blighting their most brilliant hopes of anticipations, rendering marriage, &c., impossible.

YOUNG MEN

especially, who have become the victims of Solitary Vice, that dreadful and destructive habit, which annually sweeps to an untimely grave thousands of young men of the most exalted talents and brilliant intellects, who might otherwise have entranced listening Senates with the thunders of eloquence, or waked to ecstacy the living lyre, may call with all confidence.

Marriage.

Married persons, or Young Men contemplating marriage, being aware of physical weakness, organic debility, deformities, &c., should immediately consult Dr. Johnston, and be restored to perfect health.

He who places himself under the care of Dr. Johnston, may religiously confide in his honor as a gentleman, and confidently rely upon his skill as a Physician.

Organic Weakness

immediately cured and full vigor restored.

This disease is the penalty most frequently paid by those who have become the victims of improper indulgencies. Young persons are too apt to commit excesses from not being aware of the dreadful consequences that may ensue.—Now, who that understands the subject will pretend to deny that the power of Procreation is lost sooner by those falling into improper habits than by the prudent? Besides being deprived of the pleasure of healthy offspring, the most serious and destructive symptoms to both body and mind arise. The system becomes deranged; the physical and mental powers weakened, nervous debility, dyspepsia, palpitation of the heart, indigestion, a wasting of the frame, cough, symptoms of consumption, &c.

OFFICE—No. 7, South Frederick Street, Seven Doors from Baltimore St., East side, up the steps. ☞ Be particular in observing the name and number, or you will mistake the place.

A Cure Warranted, or no Charge Made, in from One to Two Days.

NO MERCURY OR NAUSEOUS DRUGS USED.

Member of the Royal College of Surgeons, London, Graduate from one of the most eminent Colleges of the United States, and the greater part of whose life has been spent in the Hospitals of London, Paris, Philadelphia, and elsewhere, has effected some of the most astonishing cures that were ever known. Many troubled with ringing in the ears and head when asleep, great nervousness, being alarmed at sudden sounds, and bashfulness, with frequent blushing, attended, sometimes, with derangement of mind, were cured immediately.

A Certain Disease.

When the misguided and imprudent votary of pleasure finds he has imbibed the seeds of this painful disease, it too often happens that an ill-timed sense of shame, or dread of discovery, deters him from applying to those who from education and respectability, can alone befriend him, delaying till the constitutional symptoms of this horrid disease make their appearance, such as ulcerated sore throat, diseased nose nocturnal pains in the head and limbs, dimness of sight, deafness, nodes on the shin bones and arms, blotches on the head, face and extremities, progressing with frightful rapidity, till at last the palate of the mouth or the bones of the nose fall in, and the victim of this awful disease becomes a horrid object of commiseration, till death puts a period to his dreadful sufferings, by sending him to 'that bourne from whence no traveler returns.' To such therefore Dr. Johnston pledges himself to preserve the most inviolable secrecy, and from his extensive practice in the first Hospitals of Europe and America, he can confidently recommend a safe and speedy cure to the unfortunate victim of this horrid disease.

It is a melancholy fact, that thousands fall victims to this dreadful disease, owing to the unskillfulness of ignorant pretenders, who, by the use of that dreadful poison, mercury, ruin the constitution, and either send the unfortunate sufferer to an untimely grave, or else make the residue of his life miserable.

Take Particular Notice!

Dr. J. addresses all those who have injured themselves by improper indulgencies and solitude by habits which ruin both body and mind, unfitting them for either Business, Study, Society or Marriage.

These are some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by early habits of youth, viz!—Weakness of the Back and Limbs, Pains in the Head, Dimness of Sight, Loss of Muscular Power, Palpitation of the Heart, Dyspepsia, Nervous Irritability, Derangement of the Digestive Functions, General Debility, Symptoms of Consumption, &c.

MENTALLY.—The fearful effects upon the mind are much to be dreaded; loss of memory, Confusion of ideas, Depression of Spirits, Forebodings of Evil, Aversion of Society, Self-Distrust, Love of Solitude, Timidity, etc., are some of the evils produced.

Thousands of persons of all ages can now judge what is the cause of their declining health. Losing their vigor, becoming weak, pale and emaciated, having a singular appearance about the eyes, cough and symptoms of consumption.

Dr. Johnston's Invigorating Remedy for Organic Weakness.

By this great and important remedy, weakness of the organs are speedily cured, and full vigor restored. Thousands of the most nervous and debilitated, who had lost all hope, have been immediately relieved. All impediments to Marriage, Physical or Mental Disqualification, Nervous Irritability, Tremblings and Weakness, or exhaustion of the most fearful kind, speedily cured by Doctor Johnston.

Young Men;

Who have injured themselves by a Certain Practice, indulged in when alone—a habit frequently learned from evil companions, or at school—the effects of which are nightly felt, even when asleep, and if not cured renders marriage impossible, and destroys both mind and body, should apply immediately

What a pity that a young man, the hope of his country, and the darling of his parents, should be snatched from all prospects and enjoyments of life, by the consequences of deviating from the path of nature, and indulging in a certain secret habit. Such persons before contemplating should reflect that a sound mind and body are the most necessary requisites to promote connubial happiness. Indeed, without these, the journey through life becomes a weary pilgrimage, the prospects hourly darkens to the view; the mind becomes shadowed with despair and filled with the melancholy reflection that the happiness of another becomes blighted with our own.

ALL SURGICAL OPERATIONS PERFORMED.

To Strangers.

The many thousands cured at this institution within the last 16 years, and the numerous important Surgical operations performed by Dr. J. witnessed by the Reporters of the papers and many other persons, notices of which appeared again and again before the public, is a sufficient guarantee that the afflicted will find a skilful and honorable physician.

DR. JOHNSTON is the only regular Physician advertising to cure private complaints.—His remedies and treatment are entirely unknown to others. Prepared from a life spent in the great hospitals of Europe and the first in this country, viz: England, France, the Blockley of Philadelphia, &c., and a more extensive practice than any other Physician in the world. His many wonderful cures and most important Surgical operations are a sufficient guarantee to the afflicted. Those who wish to be speedily and effectually relieved, should shun the numerous trifling imposters, who only ruin their health, and apply to him.

Take Notice.

☞ There are so many ignorant and worthless Quacks advertising themselves as Physicians, ruining the health of the already afflicted, that Dr. Johnston deems it necessary to say, especially to those unacquainted with his reputation, that his credentials or diplomas always hang in his office.

☞ No letters received unless post-paid and containing a stamp to use on the reply.

A FEARFUL AND TRAGICAL SCENE.

Mouth of the Pei-Ho, China,
June 30th, 1858.

Monday morning we were up at the mouth of the Pei-Ho river, which runs down, as I have remarked, from near the Imperial city of Pekin. The allied fleet, English and French, was anchored around us, and nearest to us, as was natural and befitting, was the U. S. steam frigate Minnesota of 50 guns, which had brought out our Minister, Hon. Mr. Reed. Some of the officers of the Powhatan and Minnesota were old acquaintances and friends; and about noon a boat pushed off from the latter ship, bringing a party of officers, and manned by six fine seamen. Pleasantly passed the hours with old acquaintances, while I, having none, and saddened by what I had seen and thought, retired to my state room to copy the touching lines of Cowper, called the "Castaway," which I had read and stamped upon my memory long before I had seen ship or ocean, or could well conceive of any body of water larger than the fishing pond in my native town. The sky was clear, the water smooth, and hardly a breath of air pressed the sails spread over the Gulf

Hardly was the ink dry upon the sheet on which I had copied the Castaway, when a blow struck the side of the ship opposite to my room, like that of a solid mass of lead as long as the ship, under which it trembled and quivered for a moment, and seemed ready to topple over. At the same instant loud voices of command were heard on the deck, mingling with the cracking of the rigging, the rush of men, and the lowering of boats. Leaving my room, and rushing to the gangway to ascertain the cause, I was met at the foot of the gangway with a deluge of rain, and still worse, with a tempest of hail-stones of such size and force as I had never known. One striking me in the eye, not only for a time blinded it, but created exquisite pain; while another and larger, striking me upon the bosom, seemed almost to break the skin, through a thick vest, shirt and flannel. At length opening the lock, what a scene met the eye! A violent gale had sprung up without forewarning, under which the ship reeled, and the waves rose to a fearful height, threatening to leave the bottom of the Gulf bare.

Indeed, such was the fore of the wind, as it drove the water into the sea, that though we were anchored ten miles from the shore and in six fathoms of water, it was soon found that the Powhatan was aground without moving from its anchorage; sand was also blown plentifully from the shore to the ship. The boat of the Minnesota remaining by the side of the Powhatan, and the six men in her, the gale struck the boat and instantly swamped her, the men being tumbled into the sea, and threatened with being instantly swallowed up by the waves. Our Commodore, Captain and Lieutenants, with all the inferior officers, were instantly on deck and at their posts under the pitiless storm, giving orders to lower the boats, and if possible, to rescue their unfortunate men, while the crew, all observing the profoundest silence, but showing the deepest anxiety in their countenance, strained every nerve to lower the boats and then seized their oars, plied them manfully. Four boats were soon manned, each containing ten men, whose chances seemed little better than those of the castaways

At this time I succeeded in reaching a position on the "hurricane deck," where I could view the terrible struggle for life, and the whole fleet around us bowing to the storm, though hardly able to keep my place. How fast the bodies of the poor fellows receded from us, borne away by the violence of the waves! Two, indeed, unable to swim, instantly sunk beneath our ship, but were soon washed away. The rest could be seen at times mounted on the top of the waves and then sinking, and for a long time disappearing from sight. The boats in pursuit took different directions, according as the overcasts were driven, and themselves at times disappeared; for so deep were the troughs of the sea, that these boats, 25 or 30 feet long, often seemed to stand perpendicular, resting on one side of a wave. Some of them proceeded so far for the rescue of those they saw battling for life, that when they had rescued them, they would have been unable to return, but for the abatement of the gale. One poor fellow I watched long and with painful interest, as he was nearer and more fully in view

Nothing could be seen but his head, which sometimes rose above the waves, to which he seemed to cling as to a plank, often as he reappeared seemingly resolved to live. A feather in the air might as well battle with the hurricane; and yet he held out, till to my own relief as well as his, the boat reached him and took him in. Two full hours had passed before the rescued were on board again. Some of them had been carried three miles from the ship.—The gale, the rain, the hail, the mountain waves, and most of all the struggling men, created a sublime and painful scene, such as I had never witnessed before, and hope not to witness again. As I stood upon the deck, and contemplated it, I remembered the lines of the poet Lucan in his Pharsalia, where he says it is pleasant to look abroad upon the sea in a storm, after see a ship struggling with wind and wave, and then think that we are not there! The sentiment is an atrocious libel on human nature. It may be true when applied to stoics and epicureans like the poet; but has no support in the experience of the mass of mankind, certainly not in a bosom having one spark of humanity.

Though the men did not belong to our ship, they were Americans and fine seamen; and at this distance every man from our native land is a friend and a brother. Naturally, therefore, the event cast an air of sadness over all the crew, and I could not but be struck with the coincidence of copying "the Castaway," and so soon seeing its story realized.

The days following the pain was renewed and the feelings shocked by the emerging of French seamen and marines from their deep watery beds, who had been killed or wounded in the recent storming of the forts at the mouth of the Pei-Ho. They were sewed up in black canvass, and then cast into the sea, where the gale disturbed the water to the bottom, and they rose again. Floating hither and thither, and keeping heads just above the water, they seemed reluctant to go back to their dark watery beds, and asked for liberty a while longer to look upon the fair sky and bright sun, and live among men. But it could not be, and they sunk again as if forsaken of their last friend. Equally sad were the funeral processions in boats, and the solemn sound as the water parted and the body sank; but it was soon over.

[From the Wilmington Journal.]

Kenansville, N. C., Oct. 9th, 1858.

Messrs. Fulton & Price:

Gents: I noticed in your paper of yesterday the mention of the murder of Mr. Alfred Boyett; and as it seems you were not furnished with the particulars, I take it upon myself to give them to you, hoping that you will give it a notice (as Mr. Boyett was a most estimable and worthy citizen.) Mr. Boyett was building a house for Wm. E. Hill, Esq., about 500 or 600 yards from where Mr. Hill now resides; slept in a house near the new building, but ate his meals with Mr. Hill. Well, on the 1st inst., as usual, he went down after his supper, and remained talking with Mr. Hill until about 8 o'clock, when he left for his lodging; about half way from one house to the other, he was almost brutally and shockingly murdered. His body was found on Tuesday last, about a quarter of a mile from where the foul deed was perpetrated, in a woods, crammed in a hole some 15 or 18 inches deep; the weapons used were an axe and clubs; the axe and a club were found near by the place—axe full of blood and hair. He was struck on the head, just above the ear, his skull broken, and his brains scattered through and among his hair. Other wounds on the forehead and face seem to have been inflicted with clubs. Suspicion rested on two of Mr. Wm. E. Hill's negroes, and they were taken up. They confessed they committed the murder, implicating also one of Maj. Kenan's, and one of Mr. Isaac Brown's boys. Mr. Hill's two, and Maj. Kenan's are confined in our Jail. Their motive, they say, for killing him was to get his money—no other harm against him. Mr. Boyett was about 30 years old; a contractor and builder by trade, and from his honest and upright conduct, had established a reputation of high grade. He leaves no wife or children to mourn his loss, but an innumerable number of friends to regret his death,—particularly the manner in which he was so shockingly mutilated.

A SPECTATOR,
on the day he was found.

We copy from the Goldsborough Tribune the following additional particulars of this bloody deed:

The victim of this horrid deed was Alfred Boyett, a native of Duplin county, but who had spent some years in Goldsboro, either learning, or working at his trade as carpenter under Mr. Geo. A. Dudley.—He was one of the mechanics who helped build our new court house.

Mr. Boyett was building a new house for Gen. Wm. Hill of Duplin, about three miles from Faison's Depot, on the Wilmington & Weldon Railroad. On the night in question he had eaten his supper and remained at Gen. Hill's house until after 8 o'clock. He slept in a building a short distance from Mr. Hill's dwelling, and on his way thither, at the hour above indicated, he came up with three negroes—two of Gen. Hill's and one of Owen R. Keenan's, Esqr., of Keenansville, with whom he entered into conversation. Mr. Keenan's negro dropped behind him while the other two walked by his side engaging him in conversation, and they had proceeded but a short distance when Mr. Keenan's negro struck him a blow on the head with an axe, felling him to the ground, breaking his skull and scattering his brains in all directions. One of these struck a blow with a stick when he fell, but the third one refused to strike until compelled to do so by his accomplices. When he fell his groans were so heavy and loud, that the negroes became alarmed, and throwing him over the fence retired to a place of concealment till he ceased to groan. They then returned, and fastening a rope round his head and feet they carried him a short distance and buried him in the woods, leaving his boots uncovered, where he was found on the Tuesday following. When he was found the negroes of General Hill were suspected of the murder and were taken up and examined, when two of them made the confession detailed above and confessed themselves the murderers, in company with Mr. Keenan's negro, who they said struck the first blow. These two were instantly committed to the jail of Duplin county, and Mr. Keenan's negro was found a day or two after in Onslow County, and was also committed—he, we understand, denies any knowledge of, or participation in the murder, but the evidence against him is, we believe, conclusive.

It is said, with what truth we cannot say, that several, if not most of Gen. Hill's negroes knew that the murder would be committed, and neglected or refused to tell their master or any body else. If this is so, they deserve the severest punishment and immediate exile from the State. It is also said, that after knocking poor Boyett down, they instantly cut his throat from ear to ear. The object was to get money, of which he had only twenty cents in his pockets. After rifling his pockets, they took his papers from his pocket book, in which there was supposed to be about $4,000 in notes, and burned them.

We knew Mr. Boyett well and can testify that no young man in the country was more highly esteemed. Active, energetic, prudent, industrious and sober, he had accumulated a handsome competency, and won for himself an host of friends wherever he was employed. He was cut off, in the prime of life, by a trio of barbarous villains for whom no death, however torturing, ought to be too severe. We deeply deplore his untimely end and offer our sympathies and condolence to all his surviving friends and relatives."

Expelled.—The Trustees of the University of North Carolina have expelled Thomas T. Land, a student of the University, from the State of Louisiana, who has recently committed a series of gross and wanton acts, in the destruction of the furniture of the Recitation Halls in the night time; in making a disgraceful and cowardly assault upon an unarmed member of the Faculty, and of insolence and general insubordination. And the President of the University is authorized and requested to institute such proceedings in the Superior Court of Orange county, on behalf of the Trustees, as will lead to the detection and criminal punishment of all the guilty confederates in said riot and outrage, and for recovery of damages for the property destroyed.

A PAIR OF SPECTACLES.

PARSON BROWNLOW ON REV. MR. PRYNE.

'Mr. Pryne is staying at the same hotel I do—the American. He is a small, heavy built man, about 36 years of age, and wears a ruffian-like pair of whiskers. He is not a pretty speaker, by any means, and has rather a feeble voice, which he strains very much in speaking. His gestures are awkward, rapid and violent, and are alike in season and out of season, agreeing exactly with the applause of the negroes and white ruffians who clap for him. He is a man of only moderate talents, and ordinary learning. He is bitter, unscrupulous and unmitigated in his abuse of the South, and is familiar with the slang dictionary of abolitionism. He has been in my room frequently, but I have never been in his. He is a kind of man who will board in the upper story of a hotel, and do without gaslight where board is cheap. He makes the acquaintance of free negroes, and low-down abolitionists, with great facility; and I as often see him in conversation with negroes as white men. Gerrit Smith, who is worth two millions, is said to have a bill-of-sale of the man, and I presume defrays his expenses while he labors in the 'cause of human liberty.''

[From the Syracuse Standard, 7th.]

REV. MR. PRYNE ON PARSON BROWNLOW.

Mr Editor:—The above portrait of myself, must be amusing to my acquaintances in your region and as they might be equally amused by a portrait of the Parson, I will draw one.

He is six feet high, of dark, sallow complexion, angular in his build and motion, (what we Yankees call a raw-boned man, answers well his description, especially the 'raw' part of the picture,) he has a long neck, surmounted by a small head for a man of his size; his eyes are black, but not peculiarly keen; his under lip is too large for its place, and has to be shirred in order to fit; his hands are large, his gait slovenly, and his air and manner that of one of the 'b'hoys.' I cannot judge of his style or oratory, for he was conveniently unwell, and Gen Small, who is much of a gentleman, read for him.

I did all the business with the janitor of the hall, the printers, (whom the parson denounced roundly, because they would not do our advertising for nothing,) the bill posters and door-keepers, in order to give the parson time to write part of his speeches; and I was therefore compelled to make several calls at his room, as I was at the room of the bill-poster, and a respectable old colored man who carried bills for us, and I found them both much better behaved than the pastor. I boarded at the same hotel with him, but never saw him at the table but once. Whether he took his meals at the shilling eating-house and boarded at the 'American,' I do not know My room was just one floor below his, and in the same wing of the hotel. He hurried home under the pretence that his child was sick. I presume it got better as the pastor got out of a free State.

Yours, &c. A. PRYNE.

The Last Interview between Benton and Buchanan.—Mrs. Jacobs, the daughter of the late Col. Benton, gives the following account of her father's interview (a short time before his death) with President Buchanan:

'He took the President's hand in his, and said, in clear tones, 'Buchanan, we are friends; we have differed on many points, as you well know, but I have always trusted in your integrity of purpose. I supported you in preference to Fremont, because he headed a sectional party whose success would have been the signal for disunion.

I have known you long, and I knew you would endeavor to do right, I have that faith in you now, but you must look to a Higher power to support and guide you.—We will soon meet in another world: I am going now, you will soon follow. My peace with God is made, my earthly affairs arranged; but I could not go without seeing you, and thanking you for the interest you take in my child.' Much more was said that is too sacred to repeat. Colonel Benton was much exhausted, and Mr. Buchanan frequently urged him to spare himself. Mr. Buchanan remarked to members of the family that nothing had ever given him greater pleasure. When Mrs Jacobs returned to her father's room, he called her to him and said, 'My child, you are a witness of what has passed this evening; think of it and remember it. I am glad Buchanan came; all is peace with me, and I can rest.'

BAYARD TAYLOR AS A PRINTER.

The Editor of the Plymouth (Ill.) Locomotive, who was a printer in the same office where Bayard Taylor "served his time," tells some interesting reminiscences of the great traveler:

We had the honor to succeed him in our term of 'devilship' in the Village Record office, Westchester, Chester county, Pa We well remember the time when he started out on his first "tramp," with his small satchel containing a change or two of linen, and with fifty cents in Capital. The apprentices in those days had to carry the papers thro' the country on horseback, and our route was just past his father's house. We do not know of a single time, through rain or shine, that old Mr. Taylor did not meet us at the end of the lane with a happy smile, wishing us a good day, and as we would hand him the Weekly Record, he would remark, "a fair exchange is no robbery," filling one side of our saddle-bags with nice apples and grapes. With his little farm and family around him he was a happy man indeed.—He used to inquire anxiously after Bayard, and said he liked to ramble around too much; he was not steady enough.' Little he knew then that his son Bayard, the printer's apprentice, would be one day quoted as the greatest traveling historian that America could boast of.

The Fall of the Æronaut.—The supposed fall of Thurston has induced a philosopher to compute the time and probable result of his death. His elevation was thought to be three miles when he was last seen, and assuming this to be the distance he fell, it would only require thirty-one and a half seconds for him to reach the earth, a mean velocity of 495 feet per second. Assuming his weight to be 160 pounds, he would strike the earth with a momentum equal to 160,809 pounds, or a little less than 80 tons, a power sufficient to scatter his body, bone and muscles into atoms so minute as scarcely to be perceptible, if not bury him deep in the earth.

ONE OF THE LOST ON THE AUSTRIA.

We copy the following touching paragraphs from the Newbern Daily Progress. While the senior editor of the Raleigh Standard was at Beaufort in August last, he visited the cemetery in that place, and was shown the grave of Capt. Wulf. Turning to a New York paper of Sept. 27, we find among the names of the lost that of "Miss Helene Wulf, Copenhagen." She was one of the cabin passengers The Progress has done justice to her sisterly affection and to her amiable and lovely character:

"One of the Passengers Lost on the Austria.—Some of our citizens will recollect that three or four years ago, a Danish officer of high rank, accompanied by his sister, a young, lovely and most amiable lady were on a vissit to Beaufort The officer was in bad health, and was traveling in quest of some climate that would restore a shattered constitution, and the sister whose affection for her brother overcame all the fascinations and allurements of the most refined society of Europe, accompanied him to cheer him in his despondency and to administer to him in his afflictions

At Beaufort he sickened and died, and left her his guardian angel on earth, alone, far from home, friends and kindred. After seeing his remains deposited in the earth, and after sprinkling the fresh mound over his last resting place, with the tears of sisterly affection, she left for her home in Denmark. After her arrival home she sent a beautiful monument with instructions to have it placed above the brother's grave at Beaufort, which instructions were carried out, and we are told that it now stands over the earthly remains of the stranger's grave, one of the handsomest monuments in the State, with this inscription:

"SACRED TO THE BLESSED MEMORY OF CHRISTIAN WULF."

What noble attributes must have characterized that pure being, who, while her brother lived, devoted herself entirely to him, and who after his death, exhibited such holy veneration for his memory.

Since her return to Europe she has held, we learn, frequent correspondence with parties in Beaufort, and that she was only awaiting the completion of the Atlantic and North Carolina Railroad that she might visit this country for the purpose of again bedewing a brother's grave with tears of affection She had been apprised, we suppose, of the completion of the Road, and took passage in the Austria, the ill-fated Austria, the very whisper of whose name causes thousands of hearts to bleed. The sequel is told in the fatal sentence: She was not among the saved! How much of purity, of self-denying Christian resignation and God-like attributes perished in the awful and horrid death of Helena Wulf!—perished for time and the things of earth, but they shall live with her while with a dazzling crown of light she adorns the society of the cellestial spheres through the countless ages of Eternity!"

Lola Montez and the Church.—That erratic "star," Lola Montez, recently offered in a letter to the pastor, to give a lecture to aid the erection of the church of the Good Shepherd, lately destroyed by fire in New York. The Rev. Ralph Hoyt, pastor, accepted the offer, and thereby created great excitement among his brother churchmen. The comments upon his action fired up the excitable Lola, and caused a letter from her pen to appear in the press. The following is an extract:

I perceive that some of the papers (and I am informed that the bishop and others of the clergy have interfered) are casting reflections upon the little donation which I have offered to make for the purpose of rebuilding a church designed for the free use of the poor. I wish to state that when I volunteered for this purpose I had never seen the rector, the Rev. Ralph Hoyt, but I had heard it stated that his practise is to distribute from his church food and clothing to the poor during the cold months of winter. The idea of a clergyman, in these selfish times we live in, giving food and clothes to the freezing and starving, instead of feasting them on "tracts," struck me as being most unheard of conduct in a minister, and I felt a strong desire to give my mite and help to rebuild a church which is to be used for such a very novel, but true Christian, purpose. Nor did I for a moment imagine that there was to be found even in the benighted regions of clerical bigotry and intolerance, one so stupid and so shameless as to find fault with a truly philanthropic clergyman for his willingness to receive a donation from me to feed and instruct the poor. I did remember that it was the doctors of theology and the pious folks who crucified the Master, and my wide experience has taught me that it is not to that class of people that we may generally look for good and charitable deeds; but I was not prepared to expect such an insulting interference of bishops and clergy, in what is only an humble offer of mine to help the poor. But I am contented to leave it with thinking minds to say who is the better Christian, myself, or the cold, heartless Pharisee who would crush me or any one else for doing good.

COURTESIES TO HON. JEFFERSON DAVIS.

Reference is made on the fourth page to the municipal reception of Senator Davis, and the fact is there stated that he is now the guest of Charles G. Greene, Esq., of the Boston Post. On Saturday evening last, about 120 gentlemen met by invitation at Col Greene's residence on Blackstone square, to exchange civilities with Mississippi's gallant son. Among those present were Collector Austin, Postmaster Capen, Mayor Lincoln, members of the City Government, Ex Governor Wells, Sidney Webster, B. F. Hallett, G. A. Welch of Waltham, W. W. Wheildom, Richard Frothingham, Jr., D. D. Broadhead of Brookline and a large number of the notabilities of the Democracy. The company having been introduced to the guest of the evening, a splendid collation was served, and after about two hours' most agreeable social converse, the distinguished visitor retired, and the re-union broke up, leaving on the minds of all the participants the most agreeable impressions.—Boston Transcript.

NATIVITY—COLLEGE DEGREES, &c.

During the discussion between Messrs. Douglas and Lincoln at Jonesboro', Ill., a few days ago, Mr. Douglas said—

'Mr. Lincoln attempts to cover up and get over his abolitionism by telling you that he was raised a little east of you, (laughter,) beyond the Wabash in Indiana, and he thinks that makes a mighty sound and good man of him on all these questions. I do not know that the place where a man is born or raised has much to do with his political principles. The worst abolitionists I have ever known in Illinois have been men who have sold their slaves in Alabama and Kentucky and have come here and turned abolitionists, whilst spending the money they got for the negroes they sold, (that's so, and laughter,) and I do not know that an abolitionist from Indiana or Kentucky ought to have any more credit because he was born and raised among slaveholders, (Not a bit, not as much, &c.) I do not know that a native of Kentucky is more excusable because raised among slaves, his father and mother having owned slaves, he comes to Illinois, turns abolitionist, and slanders the graves of his father and mother, breathes curses upon the institutions under which he was born, and his father and mother bred True, I was not born out west here.' I was born away down in Yankee land, (good.) I was born in a valley in Vermont (all right) with the high mountains around me. I love the old green mountains and valleys of Vermont, where I was born, and where I played in my childhood. I went up to visit them seven or eight years ago, for the first time for twenty odd years. When I got there they treated me very kindly They invited me to the commencement of their college, placed me on the seats with their distinguished guests, and conferred upon me the degree of LL. D. (in Latin doctor of laws,) the same as they did on old Hickory at Cambridge many years ago, and I give you my word and honor I understood just as much of the Latin as he did (Laughter). When they got through conferring the honorary degree, they called upon me for a speech, and I got up with my heart full and swelling with gratitude for their kindness, and I said to them, 'My friends, Vermont is the most glorious spot on the face of this globe for a man to be born in provided he emigrates when he is very young.' (Uproarious shouts of laughter.)

Collision of Two Steamers.—The Norfolk Argus says that on Friday last, at about one o'clock, a collision of quite a serious character took place near Craney island, between the United States steamer Arctic, coming from Washington, and the City of Richmond, of the Union Steamship line; the latter having just left her wharf for Philadelphia, with a heavy freight and a number of passengers, including the members of the Aid Fire Company of Norfolk, who had started on a visit to the above city The City of Richmond, according to rule, bore to the right when nearing the Arctic; but the pilot of the latter took the wrong course and ran plump into the City of Richmond, striking nearly at right angles, on the larboard side, abreast of the smoke stack, causing a terrific crash, staving in the planks, carrying away the mizenmast, smoke stack, pipes, part of the gunwale, and other timbers, injuring the steam drum and otherwise damaging the ship in a serious manner. The injured steamer, however, kept afloat, and in good time was towed back to her wharf. The damage, including the detention, is supposed to amount to about $3,000. The Arctic proceeded uninjured to the navy-yard. The firemen proceeded on their trip in the steamer Louisiana, taking with them their splendid engine, which received no injury by the accident.

Outrages on American Citizens.—The Norfolk (Va.) Argus learns that Gov. Wright, U. S. Minister to Prussia, is now corresponding with the Administration upon the violation of our passports by the government to which he is accredited. It says:

It seems an American citizen has been seized by the Prussian Government, and made to serve in the army. This man is a native of Prussia, but migrated to the United States some years ago; was naturalized; served in the Mexican war with honor and distinction, and was wounded in several battles. A few years ago he returned to Prussia, for the purpose of visiting his relations, when he was seized as a Prussian subject, and made to serve in the Prussian army, cut off from his wife, children and property in his adopted country. Another case: An old man, ninety years of age, who emigrated to the United States when he was ten years of age, married an American lady, and is the father of seven children, thus spending eighty years of his life in America, the husband of an American lady, and the father of seven American citizens, returned two or three months since to Prussia, on a visit to his relations, and by the merest accident escaped the seizure of the Prussian Government (for impressment into its army) with the aid of friends and excellent good luck.

☞ Mayor Swann, of Baltimore, has issued a circular, or proclamation, announcing a reorganization of the police force of that city The regulations embraced in this proclamation, if adhered to invariably, will certainly work great reform in the police force of Baltimore, and the Mayor has our good wishes for his success. Yet we doubt whether, under the circumstances of his election, he will be able to restrain, much less control, the lawless elements of society which have run riot there so long. We fear he is not the man for the work, yet if we were a citizen of Baltimore, we should give the constituted authorities all of our countenance and aid. A really earnest effort to re-establish the supremacy of law and order should receive the support of every one claiming to be a good citizen.

Washington Union.

☞ Charles H. Barrett, convicted of the murder of Reeve Lewis, will be hung at Washington on Friday. The "States" says he appears reconciled to his fate, although he still persists that Williams, not he, was the one that committed the murder for which he is to suffer an ignominious death. He is attended daily by Rev. Dr. O Toole, two sisters of charity, and two of the sisters of mercy. He is devout in his religious exercises, and exhibits a nerve surprising under the circumstances.

THE STADE DUES.

By private letters from Berlin, we learn that our Minister there, Gov. Wright, is held in high esteem, and especially by Americans who visit that city. Governor Wright has communicated to this Government important views on the subject of the Stade dues question, and is very desirous of receiving instructions to give notice to the Government of Hanover of our determination no longer to submit to the exaction of those dues, from American vessels and cargoes.

A vessel is stationed at the castle of Brunshausen to collect toll on all vessels passing up the river. American vessels passing up to Hamburg are subjected to vexatious and onerous duties at this point, which is in violation of the treaty of 1846, between the United States and Hanover.

The 2d sec. of the 1st art. of the treaty of 1846 is as follows:

"And further it is agreed, that no higher or other toll shall be levied or collected at Brunshausen or Stade, on the river Elbe, upon the tonnage or cargoes of vessels of the United States, than is levied or collected upon the tonnage and cargoes of vessels of the kingdom of Hanover."

By the 7th article, it is stipulated that no particular favor shall be granted by either of these nations to another, in relation to navigation and duties, which shall not immediately become common to the other party.

But it appears that Hamburg property and Hamburg vessels are exempt from any duty at Brunshausen or Stade. Therefore our vessels and cargoes should be also exempt.

It may be said that Hamburg has rendered an equivalent for this exemption by contributing to the improvement of the navigation of the Elbe, towards which Hanover has done nothing.

The Stade dues originated in mere tax on articles brought there to market, and the proceeds of the same were to be appropriated for the rebuilding of a church.—But they were finally imposed on vessels and cargoes passing by this place. They stand on the same footing with the Danish Sound dues, and the Tripolitan tribute, both of which abuses have been, through the movements of the Government of the United States, abolished.

Mr. Flagg, of the State Department, in his report on Commercial Relations, says, the Stade Dues levied by Hanover are justly complained of not only as arbitrary, but onerous and oppressive upon the commerce of the world. On passing Stade, every Captain or master must send his papers, including the manifest, bills of lading and cockets, on shore, that the amount of the duties may be calculated and certified. These duties are paid at Hamburg, where the Hanoverian Government retains an agent to receive them, and until the receipt is produced the vessel cannot proceed to unload.

It would appear from the same authority that the Hanoverian Government, by a decree of May, 1855, abolished the Stade Dues on the Elbe for all ships and goods entering Hamburg seaward. In equity, the duties levied at Stade should, hereafter, as a British writer cited by Mr. Flagg remarks, be in amount only equal to the expenses of light houses, buoys, and pilotage for maintaining the safe navigation of the Elbe, and should only be imposed for that purpose on the tonnage of vessels, instead of, as at present, on merchandize, and paid into the Hanoverian Treasury.

GIDDINGS ON THE ACQUISITION OF CUBA.

We have never understood why the constituents of the Hon. Joshua R. Giddings dispensed with his services in the Federal Legislature. If the act implied any reformation of opinion among the abolitionists of the "Western Reserve," we might appreciate the motive of his dismissal. But it is significant of no such salutary improvement. On the contrary, we are informed that the successor of Mr. Giddings is equally inimical to the South and equally identified with the anti-slavery fanatics We have no alternative, then, but to infer that the veteran apostle of abolitionism has fallen a victim to that inexorable "principle of retation" which prevails in the politics of the North. It is a scandalous spectacle of meanness and ingratitude. Here is a man who has exhausted the energies of his life in the service of his constituents—against whom no suggestion of incompetency or infidelity has been whispered by his most unscrupulous adversary—who is now bowed down by the weight of years and exertion, and is incapable, we presume, of earning an independent subsistence.—this man, albeit so worthy of confidence and gratitude from the people who have enjoyed the benefit of his labors, has been discarded in his old age for the sake of some new and undeserving favorite. It is an instance of ungenerous requital which could not occur in a Southern community

Mr. Giddings does not appear to regard his dismissal with resentment, nor has he abated anything from the vehemence of his hostility to the South Denied the privilege of inflammatory discourse on the floor of Congress, he has betaken himself to the columns of the newspapers for an opportunity of protest against the "aggressions of the Slave Power." His present concern is the acquisition of Cuba, and he has published a remonstrance against the measure, in an address to the Hon. Mr Corwin. But, it is a partial protest. Mr. Giddings will accept Cuba, on the condition of an absolute abolition of slavery in the island From present indications, we apprehend his uneasiness is altogether superfluous. The Queen of the Antilles is the mirage of American politics—forever tempting us with a brilliant promise, and perpetually mocking us with a cruel disappointment.—Rich. South.

LOSS OF THE BRIG C. M. LAVERTY.

Boston, October 18, 1858.—The brig Beaver arrived at this port in eighteen days from Turk's Island, bringing John Adams, mate, and William Mitchell and David Chance, of the crew of the C. M. Laverty, of Rhode Island, which was wrecked on the Hawk's Nest Reef, Turk's Island, September 22.

The Laverty had in about 6,000 bushels salt, and had been in the Hawk's Nest anchorage for safety during an out wind. Capt. Robinson, the officers and the crew were all saved, but the vessel will prove a total wreck. The Beaver spoke, Oct. 7, lat. 30 57, lon. 73 10, bark Indus of Baltimore, from New Orleans for Rio Janeiro; all well. Brig Abner Taylor, Tapley, from Turk's Island also arrived in company with the Beaver.

ELIZABETH CITY:

TUESDAY MORNING, OCTOBER 26, 1858.

☞ Absence from our post during the week must be our excuse for the scarcity of editorial in our issue of to-day.

☞ We return our thanks to Master Josh Cartwright for a pocket knife. Tho' not so fine an article of cutlery as we have seen, it is "good to have in a" printing office.

☞ ARTHUR'S LADIES' HOME MAGAZINE.—We acknowledge the receipt of the November number of this handsome periodical and have but a just tribute to its merit to say that it is fully up to the improvements of the age.

PROF. RYAN.

This gentleman lectured last evening in the Court House to a highly respectable audience, the lecture being the first of a series which the Prof. contemplates delivering in this place. We have not the time to notice the subject discussed or the peculiarities by which Prof. Ryan succeeds in entertaining his auditors, but can only advise an attendance upon the part of our citizens, assuring them that they will hear much that will instruct as well as amuse.

☞ The Superior Court of Pasquotank County is now holding its Fall Term in this Town, his Honor, Judge Shepherd, on the bench. This is the first official appearance of Judge Shepherd among us, and greatly has he won upon the esteem and admiration of our people by the dignified ease which he brings to the discharge of his duties, and the fine social qualities which he exhibits in his intercourse with all with whom he comes in contact. The absence of a severe and affected gravity, unapproachable dignity, and lofty ostentation, but with a proper appreciation of his position and a just sense of his relations to those to whom he has to minister the requirements of the law, are ingredients in his character which command the Judge to the cordial respect of all. His charge to the grand jury was able, full, and pointed, delivered with force and clearness, and evidenced pretty clearly to the violators of the law might expect justice at his hands.

There is a manifest determination upon the part of Judge Shepherd to expedite business. This is, by no means, the least point in him that we find to admire. A constant attendance upon Court, either as juror or witness, is a tax upon the time of the people, and it is the duty of bench and bar to consume no more time than is actually requisite to a faithful and impartial hearing of the cases before them. His Honor could not better serve the public interests than by pursuing the course which he has already commenced. So far as we have been enabled to form an opinion, Judge Shepherd fully sustains the high reputation which had preceded him, as an able jurist, an impartial judge, and an accomplished gentleman.

THE ELECTIONS.

The desperation of Know Nothingism was never more distinctly marked than in the exultations and rejoicings with which the Black Republican victories in Pennsylvania, Ohio and Indiana have been received. Reason would have suggested to a Southern mind the unpleasant truth, that free soil triumphs have but little in them to console or move to congratulations the patriotic heart, and that whenever these enemies of order, peace, and order are made to shout their battles won, the South has cause to mourn for battles lost. Free soilism is a unity of one idea, and to enforce it, every thing is made a sacrifice It is the mainspring of all their actions—the end of all their aspirations—the point to which all their labors tend. A war upon the slaveholding States is the never-ending business of these traitors to the Union and the Constitution. Every yell from their ranks indicates a breach having been made in the wall against which they have been so long directing their siege artillery. All this is written in that intense and insatiable hate that dwells in the bosom of American-born towards the Democratic party. The black republican god is not an idol that his opponents would like to worship, but it seems that its dogmas are less terrible to them than the success of the party that has hunted them from power and place and shut the doors of the public treasury against them. Revenge upon the Democracy is the ruling passion with these worthy patriots for past injuries, and though incapable of securing it by their own prowess, they are not incapable of embracing the hand that strikes the blow for them, even if that hand belong to an enemy more inimical to the public good than the power against which it is raised.

Free soil doctrines may triumph, if Democracy is made to bite the dust. Sectional agitators may succeed in their nefarious schemes upon the peace and quiet of the Union and the rights of the South, provided their success insures the downfall of the Democratic party; hence the loud hosannahs that greeted our defeat in the recent elections. We alluded to this matter in our last, and we intend to do so again, that the reflecting portion of our readers may see the feeling that animates the Southern opposition. It is our intention to charge home this sympathy upon them; it is our intention to keep the subject prominently forward in our columns, as an evidence of the malignity that animates those against whom we are contending; a malignity that buries every patriotic consideration, and thinks only of the gratification of an undying hatred.

"American" principles (?) was not an element in the contest in Pennsylvania.—The only issue was pure, unadulterated anti-slaveryism—the Know Nothings cast but little upwards of three hundred votes—and it swept the State by thousands. The Democratic party have been routed, horse, foot and dragoon, and the event is celebrated by the discharge of one hundred black republican guns in New York. The Democratic party have been overwhelmed by the hosts of abolitionism in Pennsylvania, and a shout of joy over the result arises in the South, and answers the discharge of artillery in the North. This is Know Nothingism, and we call upon the reader to ponder it in his mind.

SHOOTING AFFRAY IN A CHURCH—ESCAPE OF THE PASTOR.—About 8 o'clock last evening a Frenchman, named L Beerier, entered the Methodist church in Thirty-fourth street, near Eight avenue, and after sitting for a short time in a pew directly in front of the pulpit, he was seen to take a pistol from his pocket and aim it at the pastor, the Rev. J. M. Crawford, and instantly discharged one of the barrels. It proved to be loaded with ball, which lodged in the wall directly beside Mr Crawford, coming within a short distance of hitting him, which, had it been a little more to the right, would undoubtedly have killed him on the spot. The congregation were instantly thrown into a great state of excitement, and for a time it was feared Mr. Crawford, had been shot. Beerier was immediately secured by several gentlemen and handed over to the Twentieth ward police. On being conveyed to the station house he stated as a reason for so doing, that Mr. Crawford had insulted him in a sermon delivered in the morning. From all appearance Beerier is evidently insane.—New York Herald.

TAKING A NAP.—We are informed by a gentleman residing in South Ward, that there is a free negro woman living in the rear of Halifax street, who has been enjoying a sound sleep for five days past, without having taken a particle of food during that period Several endeavors have been made to awaken her, but without success, though on one or two occasions, her sleep has been slightly disturbed. The application of aromatic salts administered by a physician, succeeded in producing an immense sneeze at first, but she soon got accustomed to the treatment, and went off snoring at as rapid rate as ever, its application having no effect whatever. She does not appear to be reduced, from her long fasting, and as far as can be judged from her pulse, she is in the enjoyment of the most perfect health. It is really a singular case, and worthy of an investigation by some of our medical men.—Petersburg Press.

ACCIDENT.—An accident of a most painful nature occurred one day last week at Twaddell's paper mill, near Chadd's Ford, on Brandywine Creek, Delaware. Mr. Edward Wheeden, who has the supervision of the operations of the mill, was in the act of adjusting the paper on the reel, over a pair of cast iron press cylinders, weighing each about fifteen hundred pounds, when the toe of his boot was caught between the cylinders, which drew in his foot, grinding it and flattening it, together with his leg, midway between the ankle and the knee, to about the thickness of a man's hand. His presence of mind, however, did not desert him in this terrible emergency. He drew from his pocket a knife, opened it, and severed the belt which drove the rollers, thereby releasing himself from an awful and immediate death. Dr. Chandler was called in and amputated the injured portion of the limb.

SOUND SENTIMENTS FROM A MASSACHUSETTS DEMOCRAT.

The Democracy of Bunker Hill had a glorious demonstration at Charlestown on the evening of the 20th ult. Speeches were made by the Hon. Erasmus D. Beach, Col. Gardner, of Georgia, and leading Democrats from other States. We have room only for a portion of the remarks of Mr. Beech. He is the nominee of the Democracy of Massachusetts for Governor; and, let it be borne in mind, that the sentiments there expressed by him were made in the hotbed of Abolitionism. He is a gallant and true man. Where can such men be found at the North, outside the Democratic party? But, to the extract:

Shall we strengthen the arm that scatters the fire-brands of discord at home, and would pull down the temple of liberty and security above our heads; or shall we stand by the government that deals impartially and justly by all?

As a citizen of Massachussetts and the Union, I know of no higher duty under the law, than to stand by the President who plants himself squarely and firmly upon the Constitution of our country, and administers the Government by the rules of law, unawed by clamor, and unmoved by threats. I believe the President has faithfully and honestly and conscientiously discharged the duties of his high office, and that he is to-day, by reason of his upright and manly course, stronger in the confidence and firmer in the affections of the American people, that ever before.—[Great cheering.]

It is time that this sectional warfare should cease. It is high time that the politicians of Massachusetts should leave the agitation of this slavery question—for this is the bitter root of our political troubles—where the Constitution leaves it, to the States where it exists, to be maintained or abolished as the people in these States shall decree.

The people of Massachusetts, in the exercise of the power they possess, early abolished the institution of African slavery within her borders. In the exercise of the same powers the people may, in their pleasure, restore and re-establish the same institution here. It rests with the people, and alone with the people, of Massachusetts; Virginia and Georgia have no voice in the matter.

They have no right to interfere. They may not say to Massachusetts and the free States, restore and establish the institution of slavery that the system may be uniform throughout the country. Neither may Massachusetts say to Virginia and the South, abolish slavery that the system of free States may be uniform throughout the country. Neither has it a right to exercise authority over the other in this matter. Each is sovereign—each is independent—each must act for itself, and be alone responsible for its acts.

Massachusetts early led the way by abolishing slavery in her own borders. I apprehend she was led to this course less as a matter of principle, of conscience and duty, than as a matter of convenience and interest. Other States followed her lead, and others still have yet to follow in their own time and way. The institution of slavery everywhere will be abolished. For some wise purpose He has made a distinction in color and capacity and condition between the two races. It becomes not us to inquire too critically into the cause or the reason for this distinction or rashly attempt to change His decrees.

Massachusetts has done within her own borders what she had a perfect right to do whenever the judgment and the will of her people required it. She has wisely or unwisely removed the barriers of political distinction between the white man and the black man. There is a class of men in the State who demand that all the barriers of social distinction shall also be broken down and removed—nay, who would yield to the black man a pre-eminence. They would enroll him in the militia of the commonwealth and install him in the white man's pulpit; they would robe him with judicial ermine and place him in the jury panel; they would convert the commonwealth into an asylum for the free negroes expelled as well from the free as the slave States. Already they throng our towns and cities; they hold conventions; they put forth political creeds, they boast of their influence and strength; make claims and extraordinary demands—demands of ominous, disgusting import—repulsive and offensive.

This Government was established by white men and should always be controlled by white men. I have no sympathy with the men or the party of men who would elevate the negro to a political and social equality with the white man. I have no manner of patience with the politicians who pander to this sickly sentimentality—this vitiated taste—as a means of elevation of popular favor. I would cherish and preserve the Government as our fathers framed it, as we inherited it. I would not cherish error and mistakes because they are old and venerable; neither would I lay rash hands of radical change on a system and form of government that has served us so long and so well. Improve where we can, but demolish only where we must.

VENEZUELA.

We have news from Venezuela, dated at Caraccas on the 25th of September Friendly relations were fully restored between that republic and England and France. The country was enjoying repose, and the people anxiously awaiting the return of Gen. Paez, to whom the next Presidency would be tendered. The Constitutional Convention made slow progress in its deliberations. A decree had been adopted, by virtue of which the territory comprised within the jurisdiction of the Captain Generalship of Venezuela of 1810, is to be divided into departments, cantons and parishes, instead of twenty-one provinces, as at present. The province of Margarity is to be ruled by special laws. Mail communication with Europe, by way of the West Indies, was to be facilitated. Gen. Castro had returned to Valencia. Mr. Turpin, United States Minister had arrived, and Mr. Eames had resigned his post. Yellow fever was fatal to foreigners at Caraccas.

A LAW-ABIDING PEOPLE.—The citizens of Milwaukie are the most law-abiding people in the world. We asked one of them why so many people were drowned in the river, and he replied it was on account of an ordinance of that city, which forbids swimming within the city limits. When one of them slipped in, he recalled the ordinance at once, and rather than violate it went cheerfully to the bottom without a struggle.

LATER FROM EUROPE.

ARRIVAL OF THE ANGLO-SAXON.

QUEBEC, Oct. 10.—By the arrival of the Anglo-Saxon here, we have the following additional foreign news, though no later than the Ariel.

The Franklin Arctic Expedition had reached Baffin's Bay, with the prospect of a successful result.

Harley, engineer of the Atlantic cable, reports that, in his opinion, it has experienced a serious injury 300 miles from Valentia, and an attempt to raise it in deep soundings would cause its destruction. He does not despair of its working in its present condition. Shares are quoted at £450.

Several London sugar speculators had failed to the amount of £2,000,000.

The English government is considering a project for the federation of its American colonies from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

The Emperor of Russia is to visit London and Paris in the spring.

THE ATLANTIC CABLE.

The London Times says that all appearances indicate that the present Atlantic Cable must be given up, and hopes that the experience gained will be used to insure that success which is finally certain. It admits the great superiority of the Niagara over the Agamemnon, and thinks that a ship should be especially constructed for the laying of the cables.

THE ELECTION IN INDIANA.

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 19.—The State Senate will stand: 25 Republicans, 3 anti-Lecompton Democrats and 22 Administration. The House: 52 Republicans, 3 anti-Lecompton Democrats, and 215 Administration. The Democratic State ticket is elected by 2,500 majority.

FIRE IN PORTSMOUTH, VA.—On Sunday morning last, in Portsmouth, a framed building owned by Mrs. I. R. Bagley, another by John S Stubbs, valued at $1000, and two belonging to the estate of Jas. M. Binford, valued at $1000, were destroyed by fire. All the buildings were insured.

Obituary.

It is melancholy to see a meek, lovely and youthful believer sinking away under the deep consciousness that her work is done, her days nearly numbered and that soon she is to pass the threshold of eternity. Her humble language is, I am ready and willing to go, but I could wish to remain longer for the happiness of my dear parents and friends—nevertheless, Thy will, not mine, be done, Oh Lord.

No sight is more heartrending than the couch on which lies the loved and lovely daughter, wasting away slowly yet surely under the power of disease, and feel that no power can charm away the spoiler. No one can fathom the depths of sorrow that such a scene stirs, or comprehend the nature of the groans that the sorrow prompts. Alas! alas! for the riven hearts! No pen can describe its sorrow, or its deep awful anguish. Life is a burden, cheerful scenes are shunned, laughter and music are like the funeral knell.

Oh! how agonizing to see one's beau ideal of beauty and amiability, in whom the soul's warmest love and devotion had been garnered from the earliest recollections, perishing, and have no power to save; and to know that the hour of separation is surely hurrying on. "Oh! how hard it is to part." The anguish attendant on the severing of such ties must be endured to be understood. To see the object of our tenderest devotions cold and stiff in death and deaf to all our expressions of love and friendship, is awfully agonizing to the soul.

It is affecting too indeed to hear prattling childhood, unconscious of it loss, calling for its tender guardian insensible to its wants; and to see the poor helpless one wandering through halls and parlors seeking its loved parent, and she reposing in the silent tomb.

Such thoughts have been suggested by the recent sickness and death of one of the most lovely daughters, one of the most amiable of companions, and a meek forgiving christian, Maggie A. Barnard Lindsey, wife of Mr. D. McDonald Lindsey, and eldest daughter of John Barnard, Esq.. She died Oct. 8th, aged 18, in Currituck County, N. C.

Dear Maggie, can it be that thou art gone! thou so young, and dear to the hearts of thy relatives, acquaintances and friends. So ready to contribute to their happiness, to solace them in sorrow, to pity and assist the poor and needy, and to instruct those ignorant of God's holy word.

Thy death has cast deep and lasting shadows. Many, very many are now sad to think that thou art no more for earth. All thy school companions and teachers and sabbath pupils, mourn thy early doom. Thy dear brother and sister so tenderly loved, weep over their departed sister. Thy servants, too, lament the early death of their young mistress. All thy loved ones feel a dear one is gone and in sorrow mourn at thy peaceful grave beneath the wild wood shade.

Died, on the 18th inst., at his residence in Pasquotank county, N. C., Mr. JETHRO SIMPSON, aged 28 years.

The subject of this obituary notice was a man highly esteemed and respected by all his neighbors and associates. He was a good citizen, a good neighbor, and a good husband. He left a wife and two children to mourn his irreparable loss. He sustained, from his youth, a most unexceptionable moral character, but on his death bed, he became fully satisfied that morality alone was not sufficient to give a safe exit from this to a future state of existence.—He saw and felt the force of the Saviour's declaration, "Except a man be born again he cannot see the kingdom of God." He gave up all for Christ; he sought Him with a penitent heart and with a believing mind. And several days before his departure, he found the Lord to be merciful He felt his pardoning love, and was enabled to rejoice in hope of a blessed immortality. He continued in possession of a quiet and peaceful state of mind to the close of life, and died in peace with God through Jesus Christ. The friends and relations of the deceased have suffered a great loss, but what is loss to them, is his infinite gain. "They sorrow not as those who have no hope," &c. "Let me die the death of the righteous and let my last end be like his."

A FRIEND.

Died, of Typhoid, at his father's residence in the County of Tyrrell, in the 22d year of his age, Mr. JNO. M. SPRUILL.

The obituary of a friend is often the sacred tribute to departed worth, drawn by a too partial hand. Affection loves to linger among the memories of virtues, and scarcely dropping a tear upon human frailties, to forget them. But there are, thank Heaven, instances, though rare, where no such pious discrimination is required, and where the eye of the mourner may scan impartially the whole life of the lost one, without a blush for an imperfection, and with tears only of tender sorrow, that so much of loveliness has gone for ever.

Such a record does the useful but unobtruse life of Mr. Jno M. Spruill present to those who have survived him.

While hope looks trustingly forward to the brighter life upon which he had entered, memory may survey with a smile thro' its tears a life which is only to be regretted because it is too early lost. A loving, devoted and judicious Son, he blended in his character all the qualities which adorn man, and which made him at once the pride and ornament of his family.

His illness was of short duration, and his sufferings were borne with that gentle, patient fortitude which was a prominent feature in his character. Peacefully and calmly he fell asleep just as the sun was setting, on the evening of the 17th of September. As the crimson twilight lingered after the autumnal sunset, so will the memory of his virtues linger in the hearts of his friends—softening their sorrow for his loss and giving them a sweet assurance of his glorious resurrection.

"Bright be the place of my soul!
No lovlier spirit than thine
E'er burst from its mortal control,
In the orbs of the blessed to shine.
On earth thou wert all but divine,
As thy soul shall immortally be;
And our sorrow may cease to repine
When we know that thy God is with thee."

AYER'S
CHERRY PECTORAL,
FOR THE RAPID CURE OF Colds, Coughs, and Hoarseness.

BRENFIELD, MASS., 29th Dec., 1856.
DR. J. C. AYER: I do not hesitate to say the best remedy I have ever found for Coughs, Hoarseness, Influenza, and the concomitant symptoms of a Cold, is your CHERRY PECTORAL. Its constant use in my practice and my family for the last ten years has shown it to possess superior virtues for the treatment of these complaints. EBEN KNIGHT, M. D.

A. B. MORTLEY, Esq., of UTICA, N. Y., writes: "I have used your Pectoral myself and in my family ever since you invented it, and believe it the best medicine for its purpose ever put out. With a bad cold I should sooner pay twenty-five dollars for a bottle than do without it, or take any other remedy."

Croup, Whooping Cough, Influenza.
BRAINERD, Miss., Feb. 7, 1856.
REVEREND SIR: I will cheerfully certify that your Pectoral is the best remedy we possess for the cure of whooping cough, croup, and the chest diseases of our children. We of your fraternity in the South appreciate your skill, and commend your medicine to our people.
HIRAM CONKLIN, M. D.

AMOS LEE, Esq., MONTREAT, C. E., writes, 3d June, 1856: "I had a tedious Influenza, which confined me in doors six weeks; took many medicines without relief; finally tried your Pectoral by the advice of our clergyman. The first dose relieved the soreness in my throat and lungs; less than one half the bottle made me completely well. Your medicines are the cheapest as well as the best we can buy, and we esteem you, Doctor, and your remedies, as the poor man's friend."

Asthma or Phthisic, and Bronchitis.
WEST MANCHESTER, PA., Feb. 4, 1856.
SIR: Your Cherry Pectoral is performing marvellous cures in this section. It has relieved several from alarming symptoms of consumption and is now curing a man who has labored under an affection of the lungs for the last forty years. HENRY L. PARKS, Merchant.

A. A. RAMSEY, M. D., ALTON, MONROE CO., IOWA, writes, Sept. 6, 1855: "During my practice of many years I have found nothing equal to your Cherry Pectoral for giving ease and relief to consumptive patients, or curing such as are curable."

We might add volumes of evidence, but the most convincing proof of the virtues of this remedy is found in its effects upon trial

Consumption.
Probably no cure remedy has ever been known which cured so many and such dangerous cases as this. Some no human aid can reach; but even to these the Cherry Pectoral affords relief and comfort.

AYER HOUSE, NEW YORK CITY, March 3, 1856.
DOCTOR AYER, LOWELL: I feel it a duty and a pleasure to inform you what your Cherry Pectoral has done for me and wife. She had been five months laboring under the dangerous symptoms of Consumption, from which no aid we could procure gave her much relief. She was steadily failing, until Dr. Strong, of this city, where we have resided for service, recommended a trial of your medicine. We bless his kindness, as we do your skill; for in less than a week from that day. She is not yet as strong as she used to be, but is free from her cough, and calls herself well.
Yours with gratitude and regard,
ORLANDO SHELBY, of SHELBYVILLE.

Consumption, do not despair till you have tried AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It is made by one of the best medical chemists in the world, and its cures all around us bespeak the high merits of its virtues.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills.
THE sciences of Chemistry and Medicine have been taxed their utmost to produce this best, most perfect purgative which is known to man. Innumerable proofs are shown that these PILLS have virtues which surpass in excellence the ordinary medicines, and that they win unprecedentedly upon the esteem of all men. They are sure and pleasant to take, but powerful to cure. Their penetrating properties stimulate the vital activities of the body, remove the obstructions of its organs, purify the blood, and expel disease. They purge out the foul humors which breed and grow distemper, stimulate sluggish or disordered organs into their natural action, and impart healthy tone with strength to the whole system. Not only do they cure the every-day complaints of every body, but also formidable and dangerous diseases that have baffled the best of human skill. While they produce powerful effects, they are at the same time, in diminished doses, the safest and best physic that can be employed for children. Being sugar-coated, they are pleasant to take; and being purely vegetable, are free from any risk of harm. Cures have been made which surpass belief were they not substantiated by men of such exalted position and character as to forbid the suspicion of untruth. Many eminent clergymen and physicians have lent their names to certify to the public the reliability of my remedies, while others have sent me the assurance of their conviction that my Preparations contribute immensely to the relief of my afflicted, suffering fellow-men.

The Agent below named is pleased to furnish gratis my American Almanac, containing directions for their use and certificates of their cures, of the following complaints:—Costiveness, Bilious Complaints, Rheumatism, Dropsy, Heartburn, Headache arising from a foul stomach, Sickness, Indigestion, Morbid Inaction of the Bowels and Piles arising therefrom, Flatulency, Loss of Appetite, all Ulcerous and Cutaneous Diseases which require an evacuant medicine, Scrofula or King's Evil. They also, by purifying the blood and stimulating the system, cure many complaints which it would not be supposed they could reach, such as Deafness, Partial Blindness, Neuralgia and Nervous Irritability, Derangements of the Liver and Kidneys, Gout, and other kindred complaints arising from a low state of the body or obstruction of its functions.

Do not be put off by unprincipled dealers with some other pill they make more profit on. Ask for AYER'S PILLS, and take nothing else. No other they can give you compares with this in its intrinsic value or curative powers. The sick want the best all there is for them, and they should have it.

If expenses in Music Department are added $263.

Ministers of the Gospel are entitled to send their daughters free of tuition in the Collegiate and Academic Departments.

The location is unsurpassed by that of any other College in this country; and for healthiness, will compare favorably with the mountain districts. Last session there were several young ladies in attendance, who came as much for their health, as to pursue their studies; all of whom were in the enjoyment of that great blessing (health) at the close of the School, and will return as soon as it opens.

ANCIENT, MEDIEVAL, MODERN AND MILLENNIAL,

Also, Restoration of the Temple and City as invested by Titus.—Notices of its Jewish, Christian, and Heathen Antiquities—Its Present Political and Moral Condition—Future Prospects, &c.

This work is the result of investigations made during three and a half years' residence in the Holy City, with facilities for prosecuting researches never heretofore enjoyed. It was undertaken with special reference to the elucidation of the Holy Scriptures, the Talmud, the Works of Josephus, the Crusaders, and Pilgrim Chroniclers. The many valuable discoveries made in the Temple Enclosure, and other sacred localities, to which Dr. Barclay was admitted by special Firman, with permission to explore those hallowed spots, so jealously guarded for many centuries, and now for the first time presented to the Christian public, will introduce a new era in Sacred Topography.

'YOUNG AMERICA' CORN AND COB MILL,
MANUFACTURED BY

THE above Mill, which so far surpassed all others last season, has been improved, and made stronger and better than ever, and is now in the field carrying everything before it. It is the mill for strength, durability and swiftness.

I annex a list of premiums it has received this season, over the 'Little Giant,' 'Magic Mill,' Sinclair Mill, Maynard's Mill, and all others that have come into competition with it:

First premium at the N. York State Fair.
First premium at the Ohio State Fair.
First premium at the Michigan State Fair.
First premium at the N. Carolina State Fair.
First premium at the Nashville (Tenn.) Fair.
First premium at one County Fair in N. York.
First premium at ten County Fairs in Ohio.
Trial of corn and cob mills at the North Carolina State Fair, October 1856.

The following table will show the time occupied by each of the Mills on exhibition in grinding half bushel of corn and cobs:

Young America,	2 minutes and	40 seconds.
Little Giant,	4 "	55 "
Magic Mill,	6 "
Sinclair & Co's Mill,	two trials, average time, 6 minutes and 58 seconds.

Advantages of the Young America or Excelsior Mill over all others: 1st, great strength and durability; 2d, simplicity, (having but one set screw to graduate the quality of grinding, which renders it so simple that it may be managed by any ordinary farm hand;) 3d, it will grind more corn, or corn and cob, in the same time, and of same quality, than any other mill in use of the same size; 4th, economy—that part of the mill which is most liable to wear, being separate from the main body of the machine, can be renewed when worn out, at the small cost of $3. Thus in the Young America or Excelsior mill, I present the best, cheapest and most durable mill ever offered to the Farmer. This mill is of large size and greater capacity than any other mill ever sold at the same price.

Price, including extra plates, $50.

I am also manufacturing Cart and Wagon Wheels, Farm Wagons, Carts, Trucks, Drays, Plows, Harrows, Cultivators, Corn Shellers, and Agricultural Implements generally, and am better prepared to furnish farmers and merchants than any other house in the city.

Call and examine my stock and be convinced that it is to your interest to patronize Southern enterprize. I am unwilling to believe that all the men in Virginia and North Carolina prefer to build up the North and impoverish the South.

I have also a Foundry connected with my factory, and solicit orders for Castings generally.
